My Personal Slave
by Kenn Nesbitt

I’m making my brother my personal slave,
So now when I greet you my brother will wave.
He’ll do all my homework; he’ll take all my __56__.
He’ll clean up my messes and wait on my guests.
He’ll hold out my hanky whenever I sneeze.
He’ll say that he did it if I “cut the __57__.”
He’ll go take a bath if I play in the dirt.
He’ll eat all my spinach, then feed me dessert.
He’ll empty the garbage and vacuum the floors,
And finish my other unsavory chores,

He’ll do all my homework; he’ll take all my __56__.
He’ll clean up my messes and wait on my guests.
He’ll hold out my hanky whenever I sneeze.
He’ll say that he did it if I “cut the __57__.”
He’ll go take a bath if I play in the dirt.
He’ll eat all my spinach, then feed me dessert.
He’ll empty the garbage and vacuum the floors,
And finish my other unsavory chores,
Like washing the dishes and mowing the yard
Or anything else even modestly __58__.

I really enjoy all the effort I __59__
By making my brother my personal slave.
And though I’ll admit how exciting it is,
I’m not sure it’s worth it, ’cause next week I’m his.

If a picture is worth a thousand words, then David LaChapelle’s photos are definitely worth more. LaChapelle is well known for his distinctive celebrity photos. At the age of six, LaChapelle started to take photographs. From then on, he was obsessed with the artistic medium. Years later, he got his first job as a professional photographer on Andy Warhol’s recommendation. LaChapelle has since then developed his own personal style, which has become his way of making remarks about modern society.

LaChapelle is in particular noted for putting celebrities in odd situations. Kanye West, for example, was covered in blood and wearing a crown of thorns. It suggests that West, like Jesus, has to fight for recognition and suffer for success.

Justin Timberlake, dressed in a suit with black and white stripes, bore a resemblance to Elton John. This shows that LaChapelle’s pictures of celebrities reflect some aspects of their personalities and their personal lives.

If interested in LaChapelle’s photos, you can visit the Museum of Contemporary Art in Taipei. An exhibition of works spanning his entire career is on display at MOCA from April 2nd through May 30th.

60. Which of the following statements is true?
   (A) LaChapelle rose to fame when he began to take pictures at six.
   (B) LaChapelle commented on the world from his unique point of view.
   (C) West liked Jesus so he had to fight and needed to suffer a lot.
   (D) The exhibits at MOCA displayed his contemporary but not early works.

61. In what situation does LaChapelle put his models?
   (A) In a perfect setting.   (B) In nervous conditions.
   (C) In strange circumstances.  (D) In a natural environment.

62. Why does LaChapelle make Justin wear a black and white striped suit?
   (A) Because Justin Timberlake and Elton John resent each other.
   (B) Because Justin Timberlake is bored to tears.
   (C) Because LaChapelle creatively uses it as a metaphor.
   (D) Because LaChapelle thinks Justin’s personality is black and white.

63. What is the writer’s purpose of writing this passage?
   (A) To introduce the photographer, David LaChapelle.
   (B) To teach people how to pursue their dreams.
   (C) To trigger students’ interest in visual arts.
To promote the tickets to LaChapelle’s exhibition in MOCA.

Google Doodles are special images that Google uses to honor people and celebrate events which they consider significant. The first Google Doodle was designed by the company’s co-founders, Larry Page and Sergey Brin. At first, Google hoped the doodles would be a fun and playful way to inform visitors that their servers were down or that they had other problems. However, people enjoyed the doodles so much that Google decided to make new ones.

They first counted on several artists to do this. After seeing intern Dennis Hwang’s design for Bastille Day, Brin and Page made creating Google Doodles his full-time job. Now, images are used instead of the regular Google banner. These images celebrate events such as Halloween, Christmas, and Chinese New Year.

Professional artists aren’t the only ones having fun, though. Google has held an annual competition called Doodle 4 Google, which allows children from kindergarten through Grade 12 to submit their own designs. The first-prize winner will have his or her design featured on Google’s homepage for a full day!

64. Which of the following is most likely to become a Google Doodle?
   (A) A picture that publicly celebrates a historic date.
   (B) An image that is offensive to the First Lady.
   (C) A logo that represents a famous organization.
   (D) A sign that gives warning about the danger of smoking.

65. What does “intern” mean?
   (A) A person who works on a part-time basis.
   (B) A person who is at the in-between stage, neither a child nor an adult.
   (C) Someone who has to turn in his homework assignment.
   (D) Someone who works in order to gain experience.

66. What is the best title for the passage?
   (A) Google Recreation and Education.
   (B) The Story behind Google Doodles.
   (C) Inside the Google Machine.
   (D) Google’s Competition: Most of the Internet.
